Bylaw 617 Passed For Establishment of Municipal Recreation Committee

Regular Meeting of Council Held on Monday Night — Street Lighting Approved

Bylaw No. 617 establishing a Municipal Recreation Committee for the Village of Stirling was given its several readings and passed at the regular meeting of the Village Council on Monday night. This replaces Bylaw No. 519 which is outdated. Reeve Carl Bateman presided and all members of Council were in attendance.

To Build Wall

Joe Valchar waited on Council in regard the erection of a wall along the south side of his property on the corner of Henry and George Streets. He requested Council to remove a bank of earth between the road on George St. and his property line to facilitate the construction of the wall. This action would also provide parking space for a number of cars stated Mr. Valchar. After consideration Council agreed to contribute $80 to the project with the privilege of having the earth for fill.

Drainage Ditch Discussed

Messrs. Clive White and Max Armstrong also waited upon Council regarding the drainage of an area south of Front St. W. and east of the Frankford Road. Reeve Bateman stated that pursuant to the last regular meeting of Council when the matter was discussed he had contacted the Ontario Department of Highways at Kingston and engineers from the Department had visited the area. Council had since been advised that the Department of Highways assumed no responsibility for the condition and suggested a Municipal Drainage Engineer be consulted.

It was the consensus of Council that if the present ditch were properly cleaned out the area would be drained properly. This was a matter for the property owners concerned and if no agreement could be reached there was always recourse to the Drainage Act, which might prove quite costly. It was pointed out by Mr. Armstrong that part of the present ditch was on a right-of-way and Council would be responsible for that portion of the ditch. It was finally agreed that Council would engage Mather Associates to make a survey of the open ditch in question.

Police Chief D. Ketcheson presented his monthly report and had it accepted on motion of Councillors Jones and Chambers.

Correspondence was tabled from Ontario Department of Highways, Central Mortgage re easement for sewers on rear of wartime housing project on North Street, Sterling Trust re sale of D. C. Bonds from Cemetery Trust Fund, O.W.R.C. re taxes on area now used as lagoon, Stirling-Rawdon District High School Board with enclosed cheque for $300 contribution towards drainage of area on Church St.

Approve Street Lighting

A communication from the local Public Utilities Commission submitted a price of $1373.48 for the cost of street lighting and equipment for Front St. W. On motion of Anderson and Jones Council gave its approval to the type of light and authorized the installation at the price submitted.

Clerk W. L. Pollock reported receipt of the first instalment of the per capita grant from the Ontario Government amounting to $1854.50, being one half of the total amount due.

Permission was granted for the issuance of a building permit to Riverside Construction for an addition to a barn on the south side of Front St. W.

New Vault?

The question of a new vault with chapel at the Stirling Cemetery was discussed and the Clerk was instructed to get some required information regarding financing the same from the department governing cemeteries. Some minor items of repair to the streets were discussed with F. Broekema, Streets Superintendent.

Stirling Midgets Win Over Glen Ross

Stirling Midgets continued their winning ways on Thursday night last, when they defeated Glen Ross by a score of 20-13 at the Henry St. playground. Bolte was on the mound for the locals and Gritts for the losers.

Midgets Defeat Mount Pleasant

Final Score 6 to 5 For Locals in Thrilling Softball Contest At Henry St. Park

Softball fans who stayed away from the game between Mount Pleasant and Stirling Midgets at the Henry St. playground on Tuesday night missed a real thriller. It was a see-saw battle between two evenly matched teams and the result was in doubt until the final out. The final score after seven innings was 6 to 5 for Stirling.

H. Jeffs was on the mound for the losers with K. Smith behind the plate, while Boite looked after the pitching duties for the locals. In the absence of J. Wright, the regular catcher, V. Holt went behind the bat and did a good job.

Opened Scoring

The locals went down in order in the first inning but garnered three counters in the second when eight men went to bat and Boite, Glen Hagerman and D. Bird crossed the plate. They were blanked in the third and fourth but scored three in the fifth with Noble, Boite and Faulkner scoring on the latter's homer.

Bride-To-Be Showered

On Thursday evening a "Girls Only" shower was held at the Union School in honour of Miriam Rutherford's coming marriage. The bride-to-be was seated in a decorated chair and Mrs. Clarence Thomson was chairlady for a short programme as follows:

Duet, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," by Patsy and Sherry Spencer; reading, "Mrs. Murphy's Visitors," by Mrs. Lindsay Finch; accordion and vocal solos, "The Waltz You Saved For Me" and "Side By Side," by Mrs. Bob Spencer; reading, "The Old Newlyweds," Agnes McKeown; food contest, conducted by Mrs. Lindsay Finch; contest, "Well known places in Ontario," by Mrs. Bob Reid; contest, "Scrambled words and advertisements," by Patsy Spencer; vocal duet, "Faith, Hope and Charity," Lynne and Suzanne Spencer.

An address was read by Patsy Spencer and Miriam was presented with a white chenille bedspread with multicoloured flower trim and a decorative vase in blue with chintz of the valley on the side.

Miriam thanked the ladies in a few well chosen words and refreshments were served.

Riley — Rutherford Wedding

In a double ring ceremony performed in the chapel of the United Church in Marmora on Saturday, June 24th, the marriage was solemnized of Miriam Joy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Rutherford to Thomas Arthur Riley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Riley, Grafton. The Rev. J. M. D. McLeod officiated. Music was provided by Mrs. McLeod.

Mr. Gerald Rogers attended the groom.

organist, Mr. Harry Seymour assisted the minister.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white chiffon over taffeta, fitted at the waist with street-length skirt in bouffant style. A tiny tiara of pearls and sequins held her veil of nylon tulle and she carried a white Bible and a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses with tiny rosebud sprays.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Gerald Rogers, who was gowned in mint green organza over taffeta, fitted at the waist with full skirt. She carried a nosegay of mauve 'mums.'

At the reception at Riviera Inn, Campbellford, the bride's mother received the guests dressed in a gown of pale blue lace with white hat and accessories and a corsage of white and pink carnations. The groom's mother assisted, attired in a gown of blue figured silk with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and around Lake Ontario, the bride chose a two-piece suit in arne in white and coral with white hat and accessories. Her corsage was white roses.

Guests were present from Grafton, Port Hope, Bailleboro, Centreton and Campbellford.

On their return from their honeymoon the happy couple will take up residence at 314 University Street, Cobourg.

Let the tall-gating, horn-honking driver pass. Forget the flare of temper that arises when another driver cuts into the safe space between your car and the one ahead. He'll probably still be there when you reach your destination. Obey traffic rules. Little can be gained and disaster can be produced by sneaking in a rule or two of your own.

"Generally," advises the Council, "drive relaxed and with patience. Annoyance at other drivers is senseless. If you must be annoyed, watch for some of your own driving faults and get annoyed enough to correct them. While you drive in traffic, the only thing you can teach other drivers is how to drive sensibly, and you teach them that by example."

Timely Tips

Foot rot season for cattle is fast approaching. Lameness and open sores at the top of the hoof or between the claws are common symptoms. Prof. George Raithby, Head of the Animal Husbandry Dept., OAC, suggests keeping cattle away from mud holes. Driving them twice daily through a footbath of a good disinfectant used according to manufacturer's directions will cut down on new infections. Treatment: Keep the foot clean and apply mild antiseptics. Check with your local veterinarian on more serious cases.

Now's a good time to clean out your granary, advises Prof. Harold Goble, Provincial Entomologist. Get all the dirt and broken kernels out of the cracks. A vacuum cleaner does a good job. If the grain isn't going for milling or malting you can use fuel oil to kill the grain pests. If it is, it's best to use one of the following: 2 pounds of 25 percent Lindane wettable powder in 5 gallons water, or 1 quart of 50 percent malathion emulsion in 4 gallons water, or 1 pound of 50 percent methoxychlor wettable powder in 1 gallon water. Spray or brush on to the point of run-off.

Don't take a chance with your farm pond. Fence it off so unattended children can't get near it, cautions Hal Wright, Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Keep a 6-foot plank on a rope handy to the pond; you can do a better job of throwing a plank than a life preserver to a drowning person.

Eliminate Worry Enjoy Car Trip

"There is no reason why every motorist shouldn't get the fullest enjoyment out of his vacation motor trip," claims the Canadian Highway Safety Council. "All it takes is a little preparation and some common sense."

The Council, sponsoring in Canada the annual continent-wide Slow Down and Live campaign through June, July and August in co-operation with the Association of State and Provincial Safety Co-ordinators, has issued a few tips for enjoyable motoring. First, it advises, the car should be safety checked before leaving. Make certain brakes, horn, steering, exhaust system, glass, lights, mirrors, wipers and tires are in top travelling condition.

Then start early so any sense of rush will be either eliminated or reduced to a minimum, and stop when tired or just to enjoy the scenery. Motorists who set tight schedules for trips produce tense nerves and muscles. A fast trip proves only one thing; that you might as well have used the time saved to get pleasure out of the trip.

Drive easily. Ignore others who insist in frantic pursuit of what they seem to think is a sense of superiority or leadership in traffic. Let them brag. There may come a day when their ego needs help.

Hospitals HitBack At*Thoughtless Visitors

Beneath a banner bearing the sage advice, "Visits should be enjoyed — not endured," the public hospitals of Ontario are moving into concerted action against their common enemy — the bad hospital visitor. Hospital administrators, long plagued by this problem, agree that only a small percentage of visitors are involved, but they also agree that this aggravating minority have a nuisance value out of all proportion to their numbers. Previous attempts to convince the thoughtless few that visiting rules exist for the benefit of the patients have not been conspicuously successful. Now, backed by their provincial association, Ontario's hospitals are on the warpath and they hope that an eye-catching combination of humour and horse sense will do the trick.

The opening shots were fired recently with ammunition supplied by the Ontario Hospital Association — a series of colourful posters aimed at wiping out four choice targets. "Two Sides To Every Story" lampoons the character who insists upon sharing his smoking pleasure with his ailing host, and others under fire are the folk who turn a bedside visit into a neighbourhood reunion; the chummy 'bed-sitter' who carries togetherness too far, and the 'Happy Wanderer' who tries every private room before the right one.

Mr. Stanley W. Martin, Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Ontario Hospital Association, emphasizes that although hospitals are using humour as their weapon, this in no way lessens the seriousness of the problem. "Hospitals are deeply concerned about the visiting situation," says Mr. Martin, "because of its very real effect on the provision of good patient care. Visiting hours and regulations may vary from hospital to hospital, but in every case they are designed to suit the facilities of the hospital concerned and the best interests of its patients."

Mr. Martin, on the other hand, makes it clear that hospitals have no wish to discourage hospital visiting as such. "Most visitors," says Mr. Martin, "are considerate and well-behaved, and from experience we know that a good visit acts as a tonic to the patient. Even those who do not always follow the rules probably mean well, and we hope that if they can recognize themselves in these posters they will quickly see the error of their ways."

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

EVERYBODY SELL!

I cribbed that title from an article in This Week magazine. Wilfert A. Peterson used it for a brief article designed to get everybody in the USA busy at the job of selling. "When everybody sells," he wrote, "goods, services and ideas move faster, and prosperity is achieved."

His article hit me like a ton of bricks because of two recent Canadian experiences. First, the effort to buy (from a large Canadian department store in which I have always had great faith) an inexpensive tropical suit for summer wear. Getting the order placed with a salesman wasn't too hard; but getting the suit, after alterations, was a complicated and uneasy affair, and instead of being treated like a valued customer who had already bought an item, I suddenly became a nuisance who wanted to have the product at the time promised. In short, the reputation of this great Canadian department store dropped at least 30 percent in my estimation because an employee who should have been a salesman turned out to be an order taker only.

My second experience was when I stopped to admire one of the little cars they are making these days. It was parked close to my office. I liked the looks of it very much, and I was definitely interested because I was ready to buy a new car. While I was standing there, the owner of the car came along. I told him I was admiring the car. He then gave me a quick lecture on its merits — and finally handed me his card. He was a car salesman, and I had dropped right into his lap.

He told me he would give me a call within a few days and take me for a drive. He would also have a look at my old car and "give you a good deal."

I haven't heard a peep out of him since and that is over a month ago.

The first sale of anything is vitally important — if it is followed through with service. Usually, that means a lifetime customer.

I am a trifle cynical of the American notion that salesmanship alone can bring prosperity; but I am equally sure that without salesmanship and service and effort, on the part of us all, there will not be prosperity. Governments can monkey with the monetary system or pass laws until Hades won't have it, but nothing good will come of it unless we all, as individuals, get busy and work and serve and sell.

The tourist season is here. We could start selling visitors on the idea that Canadians are kind and thoughtful people — how's about it?

Awarded Second Phase B of M Scholarships

Four of Ontario's most outstanding students have been awarded second-phase Bank of Montreal Canada Centennial Scholarships, worth $1,500 a year for the next three years, the bank has announced.

The winners are: Michael A. Church, of Downsview, arts; James D. McGhee, of Thornhill, science; and Judith Millington and Catherine Reid, both of Willowdale, and both studying arts subjects. All four are attending the University of Toronto.

Last year, the four Ontario students each received one of the 13 first-year $750 scholarships for this province — one of 48 in Canada. Choice of the 16 second-phase winners has now been made from these 48 by a national selection committee made up of leading Canadian educators.

Ability Alone

Ability alone, rather than geographical location, governed the second-phase selection.

The scholarships will be worth $1,500 to each student during the 1961-62 university year; and provided they maintain good grades, they will also be financed to the same extent through third and fourth-year studies to graduation.

Selection Committee

Chairman of the selection committee which had the job of picking the B of M scholarship winners was Dr. Frank Wetmore, associate dean of arts, University of Toronto. Other members were: Dr. Philippe Garigue of the University of Montreal; Dean C. W. Argue, University of New Brunswick; Dr. Douglas E. Smith, University of Alberta; and Prof. Harry L. Logan, University of British Columbia.

In addition, Dr. Lucien Piché attended the meetings as secretary. Dr. Piché is vice-rector of the University of Montreal and administrator of the B of M plan.

Selection Difficult

Commenting on the work of his committee, Dr. Wetmore said, "It was clear we were dealing with a select group of the best young scholars in the country, all of whom have the promise of a brilliant future. Their records of achievement were so high, that we were faced with many decisions of narrow margin."

The current 16 awards form the second phase of the B of M's seven-year plan to provide bank-aided university study to outstanding Canadian students.

The plan will develop progressively each year, culminating in 1967, the year of the centenary of Canadian Confederation and the 150th anniversary of the foundation of the bank in 1817.

In all, the scheme provides for a total of 124 awards, ranging upwards from last year's $750 scholarships for freshmen-year study.

Thus, at the conclusion of the present three-year phase in 1964, eight of the B of M sponsored graduates will be chosen for three-year fellowships of $3,000 a year for post-graduate study anywhere in Canada or abroad. Then, in 1967, the two final Canada Centennial awards will be made — one in arts and one in science. These two awards will be in the amount of $5,000 to be used for further study anywhere in the world.

For this final contest all students who received B of M scholarships in 1960 will be eligible.

To Pay $19,250

To each of the final winners, the plan will have provided a total of $19,250 at the end of the bank-sponsored study.

THE RADISH PATCH

The crisp and solid, bright red globes that come out of the radish patch have the nicest names. Names like Cherry Belle, Comet, Cavalier and Champion that sound as romantic as is the actual history of the radish. Radishes are supposed to be one of the most ancient of cultivated plants having been grown in China for thousands of years and in Egypt long before the building of the pyramids. In the Orient today a radish is grown for use as a winter vegetable and in Egypt one is cultivated for its leaves only.

Although there are some people in our country who use radishes for a cooked vegetable they are primarily a salad crop. The tangy, peppery flavour of radishes contrasts well with the mild flavour of new crisp greens. People who are especially fond of this little vegetable like to eat it as is, with or without salt.

Whole radishes are also popular shaped into "roses" or "accordions" and used as edible garnishes for cold meat platters, salad or sandwich plates and hors d'oeuvres trays. To make the roses: select well shaped radishes. Remove root ends and all but one or two small leaves. With a sharp knife, cut thin strips of peel from the top down to and almost through the stem. Two rows of petals may be cut — one from the middle down, the other from the top to the middle. Chill in ice water until petals curl. To make the accordions, cut radishes crosswise in paper-thin slices, three quarters of the way through the radish. Chill in ice water. Radishes are sold in bunches or topped and packed in perforated plastic bags. Stored in the refrigerator topped radishes keep their crispness for a week or so.

The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, suggests using radishes in a garden salad bowl. It gives a fresh and colourful touch to the menu.

Garden Salad Bowl

10 radishes, sliced
½ cup sliced green onions
1 bunch watercress
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup shredded cabbage
1 cucumber, diced

French dressing
Combine vegetables and toss together lightly with French Dressing.
Six servings.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

MORE GOOD INSECTS THAN BAD

Depredations of insects receive so much publicity that some people might be led to believe that all insects are destructive, suggests N. S. Church of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

This is not so, he points out, citing pollinator bees and ladybird beetles among the species that are beneficial to agriculture and should be protected.

"Many people do not realize, and even experts sometimes forget, that there are a lot more good insects than bad ones," he observes.

Insects help break down dead vegetation into humus, clean up animal carcasses, destroy weeds, pollinate flowers, kill and eat destructive insects and finally are eaten by animals and fish.

"Indiscriminate poisoning of insects less feed on grasshopper eggs and is clearly foolish," he states. "Wildlife conservation should apply equally to beneficial insects such as some beetles, bugs, flies and wild bees."

According to Mr. Church, many insects are "good" or "bad" depending upon the situation they are in. The sugarbeet webworm is a destructive pest in a beet field, but it can rapidly clear a field of wheat of lamb's quarters.

He believes an insect may be beneficial to man in one stage of its development and harmful in another and points to recent experiments at the station with a group of insects called blister beetles.

Swarms of these grey, black, blue or maroon beetles can cause severe damage to many crops and garden plants, including sweet clover, sugar beets, potatoes, beans, sunflowers and carrots.

But the immature stages, or larvae, of some of these blister beetles often are important in reducing the number of grasshoppers. Since the larvae live underground they are seldom noticed.

Farmers or householders cannot expect to recognize and know the habits of all the different kinds of insects.

Mr. Church has a couple of tips for farmers and householders worried about control of insects. First, he believes, they should get to know at least the most important insects and their habits. If necessary, they should get the help of agriculturists and entomologists. Then, before applying an insecticide or other control measure, they should get the best advice available and follow the recommended procedure.

Weed of the Week

QUEEN-ANNE'S LACE

Queen-Anne's Lace is known to most people as "Wild Carrot" and is spreading across the country-side at an alarming rate, says J. D. Curtis of the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Wild Carrot is an annual or short-lived perennial which is found in vacant lots, waste places and farm meadows. It can be easily identified by its carrot-like odour, fine lacey leaves and umbels of white flowers.

This weed spreads by seeds which are easily carried by the winter winds over the snow.

Wild Carrot is easily controlled in cultivated land because cultivation prevents the formation of the rosette which, the following year, produces flowers and seeds. Pasturing with sheep for two successive years is also a most effective remedy. It is necessary to have more sheep than you can pasture all season on the carrot field, because it is quite important that the field is cropped very closely. The sheep should also be forced to clean up the fence bottoms thus preventing any seed production. Most Wild Carrots can be controlled with 16 to 24 ounces of either 2,4-D or 2,4-D/2,4,5-T acid per acre. It is necessary to spray this weed in early spring to kill the rosettes that will flower that year and to spray in the fall to kill rosettes which will flower the next year.

Detailed control measures are contained in Publication 75, "1961 Chemical Weed Control Guide," available from the County Agricultural Representative.

How To Save Steps In Remodelled Barn

With a piece of string, pins, and plans of a face-out and face-in stable arrangement, O.D.A. extension engineer Bob Milne can show you how to save about 1 mile of walking per year per cow in a face-out arrangement — during milking alone.

Why so much? "About 70 percent of chores time is spent behind the cows and 30 percent in front. Time and motion studies have shown it," answers Milne. So unless you're going to use gutter cleaners, milk pipelines, and mechanical feed conveyors, he feels it's best to face 2 rows of cows away from a central litter alley.

In stables up to 40 feet wide he suggests 2 rows of cows running lengthwise. The calf and maternity pens would be located at the end of each row. He feels that this would be the best step-saving arrangement.

In barns over 40 feet wide, the extension engineer suggests 2 rows of cows and a row of calf pens in order to make the best use of space. It involves more labour but the space saved makes up for it.

Don't forget about other ideas that will cut down chores. The location of utilities can save steps. By having the feed room and silos located close together, feed carts can be kept in this area; in some cases one trip around the stable will feed the cattle both their silage and concentrates.

In other cases, Milne says that two trips will do both these operations. When the silage feeding is completed with one cart, another circular trip with the concentrate cart will complete this chore. He suggests placing the two feed carts side by side so that there are no unproductive steps.

A wall panel holding a shovel, broom, and forks, and located close to the outside entrance is convenient. An extra wall panel with the same tools on it at the opposite end of the stable may save many trips across the stable to get one of these items. Additional hay and straw chutes into the mows may mean less moving of these materials out of the mow and in the stable below.

An interesting comment of Milne: with farm labour valued at $1.00 per hour, economists say we can afford to spend $45.00 for any convenience which will save 1 minute of chore time per day. On this basis, it will pay you to do a lot of thinking before you remodel.

CONSERVATION NEWS

ANGLERS AND FISHING PRESSURES INCREASE

Angling pressures on our sports-fish waters are said to be increasing from year to year because of increasing human populations on an ever increasing number of people who are turning to this sport as an outdoor form of recreation.

There is little doubt that there are more anglers today than there were ten years ago, but do these anglers spend as much time actually fishing as in previous years?

A rather definite pattern of angling activity has made itself apparent in recent years on our sports fish waters that is more or less spasmodic.

By far, the greatest angling pressures are exerted on the opening dates for the various species of game-fish.

Frequently these seasons open on a Saturday if the date specified of opening falls on a Monday or Tuesday.

This enables many workers to get away from their jobs in cities and towns to participate in the opening days fishing activities.

There are four such opening dates for game fish in the Tweed Forest

District that attract the greatest number of anglers to our lakes.

Peak angling pressures occur as a rule at the time of these weekend openings.

There is a sharp drop off in angling after these dates, especially the May 1st, opening for Speckled Trout and the May 15th, opening for Pickerel and Pike.

Week-end angling is next heaviest, throughout the months of May and June.

During the normal tourist season, July and August, there is a more steady angling pressure exerted throughout the week on the more accessible lakes in the area of summer resorts, but the less accessible lakes are fished only frequently on week-ends for the greater part.

The everyday commitments of people to their jobs in factories, offices, in business and industry prohibit many from making daily trips to fish the many lakes included in the sports fishery, unless they live in an area adjacent to these waters.

In the final analysis of local angling activities and angling pressures exerted on district sports fish waters there is a definite tendency towards peak pressures being exerted on opening dates, week-ends and during the holiday season during mid-summer.

During the remainder of the year fishing can be considered light over most of the District.

Watering Lawns Important

"Don't tease your lawn with a little bit of water," says Professor J. C. Taylor, Department of Horticulture, O.A.C.

Insufficient watering does more harm than good. Light watering applications just make the grass roots grow to the surface, where they can be killed easily by the hot mid-day sun. Also, shallow-rooted weeds thrive in this environment.

Soak the lawn to a depth of several inches. How do you tell when the lawn has enough water? Place several pans in the area that is to be watered. When the water is 1/4 inches deep in the pans, the lawn has sufficient.

It makes sense to water one section of the lawn at a time. If you try to do the whole lawn in one evening, none of the lawn will get enough water. One good watering is much better than two or three less thorough waterings.

The best time to water is in the morning or the evening, when there is less evaporation.

Rodgers — Gunsolus Wedding July 1st

On Saturday, July 1st, at eleven o'clock, Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, was the scene of a charming summer wedding when Ruth Margaret Ann Gunsolus, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Gunsolus, 307 Foster Ave., Belleville, was united in marriage to Arthur Meighen Rodgers, eldest son of Mrs. Arthur Rodgers and the late Mr. Rodgers, of Highland Creek. Rev. Zufelt, Picton, performed the double ring ceremony. The altar was beautifully decorated with tall standards of pink and white peonies and white candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace, styled on princess lines with a scooped neckline, edged in iridescent sequins and pearls with long sleeves ending in lily points over her hands. The bride's tiara of pearls and rhinestones was worn with a waist-length veil of pure silk illusion. Her bridal bouquet was of red Sweetheart roses and white baby 'mums intermingled with ivy.

She was attended by Mrs. Raymond Gunsolus, sister-in-law of the bride, as matron of honour, gowned in a street-length, pleated nylon over taffeta. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Grant Richardson and Miss Shirley Francis, both of Stirling, were gowned in mint green made on similar lines to that worn by the matron of honour. Their matching headdresses were nylon bows with short veils. Gloves and shoes of the same colour completed their ensemble. Miss Barbara Gunsolus, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing a mauve nylon over taffeta. Her headdress was a band of mauve flowers. Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow and white 'mums edged in tulle to match their dresses. The junior bridesmaid carried a basket of yellow and white 'mums.

Master Drew Gunsolus, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a white flannel suit and carried a white taffeta cushion on which the rings were fastened with white satin ribbon.

Village Will Assume Connecting Links of Highways Nos. 14 and 33

At a special meeting of Village Council held on Monday night it was decided to assume control of the connecting links of Highways Nos. 33 and 14 within the Village limits.

Prior to reaching a decision on the matter, Council was addressed by Messrs. V. Hart, of the Ontario Department of Highways, Toronto; A. E. Cash, District Engineer; and W. Scott, assistant, of the Kingston Branch of the Department. Under the new agreement the Village will assume the control of that portion of the two highways within the Village limits and will be subsidized 100 per cent for all construction and maintenance costs. The Highway Department will continue to snowplow the streets and will pay 50 per cent subsidy on the cost of snow removal.

After a lengthy quiz session the Clerk was instructed to forward a letter of acceptance of the plan to the Ontario Department of Highways and to prepare the necessary bylaw for assuming control of the connecting links.

Stirling Horticultural Society Hosts At District Annual at Thomasburg

(By Phil Dodds)

The Horticultural Societies in District No. 3 are playing an important role in beautifying their community was revealed in reports presented at the annual meeting on Wednesday. With the Stirling society as hosts, the annual was held in the Col. Roscoe Vanderwater Conservation Area, near Thomasburg, Hastings County. Members enjoyed a picnic in the valley among the wooded hills beside the waters of the Moira river which tumbles over shallow rocks at this beauty spot.

Mrs. J. S. Shepherdson, of Kingston, who was re-elected as district director, with Phil Dodds, president of Prince Edward County Society as assistant, welcomed the members and called for reports from societies at Stirling, Belleville, Picton, and Kingston.

Greetings were also extended by A. E. Garwood, of Kingston, vice-president of the Ontario Association of Horticultural Societies, who also moved an official vote of thanks to Mrs. Shepherdson for uniting efforts and leadership.

Secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Association, Russell Gomme, of the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture, remarked on the great amount of enthusiasm in evidence and commended the societies on their work. With a growing population and more leisure time, Societies are challenged to encourage more to become members and join "the happy hobby of gardening and growing", he said. He stressed the importance of such meetings as an opportunity to exchange ideas and said the need is for a program which will meet the diversified interests of members.

Appreciation was also paid to Mrs. J. McHarg of Kingston, the able secretary-treasurer of the district, who was returned to that office.

A district director 20 years ago, J. B. Belshaw of Stirling, recalled some of the societies' and their work in those days.

Society Reports

For Stirling Society, Mrs. Floyd Armstrong extended welcome and work of the society includes the upkeep of an attractive park with picnic tables, flower beds, window boxes, flower shows, poster competition and bird house contest. There are 158 members.

Though started only two months ago, Belleville Society has 113 members, secretary G. Nicholson reported. A flower show and bus trip were among activities.

Kingston Society work, reported by Mr. Warwood, included a great deal of civic beautification including plantings at Sunnyside Children's Shelter and Rideaucrest Home, bus trips, flower show, good meetings with one attracting 130 members.

Gananoque Society not only is engaged in many projects but has plans to help beautify new parks, Mrs. Ina G. Scott, president, reported. For the new Rotary Park, the Society hopes to have trees donated, each to bear a tag giving name of donor. With the Parks Committee, 25 trees had been planted, the first such planting in many years. Flower beds at the entrances to the gateway town and on the Main street were other efforts.

Mrs. Scott suggested sing-songs and contests at meetings to increase interest. A coloured slide contest is exciting much interest. A garden tea is planned for July 12 and in August, a bus trip to Upper Canada Village, Prince Edward.

Prince Edward Society has just completed a "Save the Elms" campaign, reported President Phil Dodds. As a result, several hundred trees have been sprayed to combat the elm disease. He reported 237 members, bus trips to Ottawa in tulip time, Newark Rose Gardens and others planned, a rose and flower show to be held Saturday, July 8, plantings at County War Memorial, police office and town park, distribution of 1500 trees to members.

Ideas and inspiration were favored by perfect summer weather.

Napanee society has 107 members at the end of June, Mrs. George Ballou reported. Four flower beds are maintained by the society, educational talks are given at meetings and a flower show was a splendid success.

Brockville reported a continuation of public planting with an increase in membership this year.

Collins Bay Society was also reported to be flourishing with the hope expressed that Amherstview residents might also join that society.

Mrs. Howard Countryman of Tweed told of beautification efforts there though the society is now dormant.

Illness of Mrs. Flis of Napanee was regretted by members who were interested in her suggestion that steps be taken to secure action regarding the publication of a magazine devoted to gardening in Ontario. Brockville Society also expressed interest in methods used to secure members.

Kingston reported a bus trip to Upper Canada Village on July 18 while Stirling Society is planning one to Niagara and Hamilton, July 24.

Ideas and inspiration were favored by perfect summer weather.

FISH HOGSUSE GILL NET

R. Ramsbottom, Conservation Officer in the Bancroft Ranger Division reports that under cover of darkness a party of fish hogs dynamited a beaver dam in Montague Township early last Sunday morning. They then placed a gill net across the opening and attempted to trap the speckled trout swimming through.

The number of trout taken cannot be determined but local conservation officers feel that it could be considerable.

Gill netting is one of the most flagrant violations of the Game and Fish

Act and the party responsible for this contemptible undertaking is being sought.

True sportsmen have no sympathy for such people when they are apprehended and brought to justice.

The world's first modern census was taken in New France in 1666 and the white population then was 3,215 persons.

Springbrook W.A.

The July meeting of Springbrook Woman's Association was held Thursday, July 6th in the Church basement with Mrs. Arthur Reid and Mrs. P. Bateman as hostesses.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by the Vice-President, Mrs. Ralph Wellman. The theme hymn was sung and the theme prayer and W.A. prayer repeated by all.

Mrs. Jas. Spry was in charge of the devotional period with "Community" as her theme. The hymn "Lord of the Worlds Above" was sung. The Scripture lesson, Matthew 5: 1-16, was read by Mrs. Arthur Reid. A reading, "Church and Community," was given by Mrs. Bert McCoy. A prayer for missionaries was given by Mrs. Pilley. Psalm 96 was read in unison. The hymn "Go Labour On" closed the devotions.

Roll call "A favourite Bible text" was answered by members and visitors. The members reported sending 60 cards and making 23 calls on the sick and shut-ins. The flower and fruit committee reported sending one box and one card to the sick and bereaved members. Mrs. Gordon Webb is this month's visiting volunteer.

It was decided to send a $10.00 donation to the Young People's Union of Belleville Presbytery.

A very interesting topic, "Hidden Springs," was given by Mrs. George Williams. The programme consisted of readings by Mrs. C. Burkitt and Mrs. Gordon Webb. Misses Linda Wellman, Marlene Mumby and Darlene Pilley provided some lovely music. The hymn "Lead Kindly Light" was sung and Mrs. Ralph Wellman closed the meeting with the benediction.

Lunch was served by the hostesses and their assistants.

This is against the will of the writer though none of mine are there. I can just remember once to see my mother walking from the bed to the window to look out. At this time there was no doctor in Stirling. I can remember about this time of my father rocking me to sleep and singing a little song named the "De Doof Wafee," also on one occasion one of my sisters who was much older than me carrying me in her arms to a neighbour's house where an old woman and her family resided. I, like most children, wanted a piece of bread and butter. The old lady said she had nothing to cut the bread with but only the leg of a spoon. I could enumerate many more little incidents such as above stated about five years of age. I can remember when about nine or ten years of age, in the 12 of July celebration in Stirling when the Orangemen were coming from the east to celebrate the day in Stirling, unloaded from their lumber wagons at the old Archie McGee place, east of the railroad, that they lined up about twenty or thirty young lads in rear of the lodges and marched to town as gay as peacocks and treated them all to a good dinner, I being one of the number myself. This took place where the Whitty hotel stands at present. Most of those boys were in their bare feet and shirt sleeves. I could go on in this strain for much longer but I believe it would not be believed. I will now have to move on to the school days of those of my own age to let the young people compare notes with the present system. We had very plain log school houses with very plain furniture, and generally very plain teachers with plain salaries and plain boarding houses. About $12.00 per month was about the average teachers were paid and to make it all plain had to board house to house till they put in about a week in each house in the section and to a second trip as aforesaid. Young people of school age that could work were often required to assist father or mother at home. This was the custom for several years, about 1850 and before it was some of my own experience. Advanced some in age my memory is quite clear in the following matters: I remember before there were any railroads in the County of Hastings and when the Grand Trunk Railway was building, a plank road from Belleville to Stirling, but it was not known by that name. It was simply known by the name of the front of Rawdon. I remember when Stirling received its name and when it was incorporated. At the time of the building of the G.T.R. the gravel road from Stirling to Marmora was building, also to Trenton through Frankford. About this time a plank road was also built from Belleville as far north as what was known as Megginson's three miles north of Foxboro. When the G.T.R. was built through Belleville and first operated, wood was in use for steam power, not coal. The G.T.R. may have been built about 1850, I'm not certain of date. I recollect distinctly the Horatio Marmora Iron Works, saw it in operation about at its best days. I also recollect when there were no taxes collected in Rawdon Township, no council, no assessment, and the first assessor was an old country school teacher, Mr. Douglas,

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

I LOVE AIRLINE STEWARDESSES

Girls who get turned down when they apply for jobs with CPA or TCA as air stewardesses speak of having been given their "ugly papers." There is an idea abroad that a broad must be broad and also curvy to land these cherished jobs.

I am now an expert on the subject. I don't travel by air too often, but I have made a special point of studying the airline hostess situation. (I had an aisle seat last trip, and I recommend that location to any gent planning similar research.)

I grant you there are no ugly stewardesses, but they are not raving beauties, either. I have known some real peaches who were turned down; I have known some medium-attractive girls who were hired.

The point I am trying to get to is that I have never yet run across an airline hostess who wasn't bright, friendly, courteous, capable. It seems to me that whoever handles personnel selection for Canada's two great airlines ought to get a medal. They do a superb job. It would be interesting to know how they manage to select so many fine, even-tempered girls, who are so completely impartial in the manner in which they serve passengers.

It doesn't matter whether you are a homey old coot or an attractive young bachelor type — the girls treat you as if you were Lothario himself. Women travelling with a couple of youngsters find that the air hostesses are ministering angels. All this courtesy is provided without benefit of tips — and the fact that there is no tipping may even have a good deal to do with the consistent quality of the service.

In short, I love airline stewardesses. I don't mind them being quite good looking, but I don't think looks have much to do with their popularity. It is more a question of attitude and character and courtesy. I confess that I am a rather attractive male in spite of thinning hair, receding chin, a rather prominent Adam's apple, and a few other minor flaws, but I get no special treatment. Everybody gets the same deal . . . warmth, courtesy, attention, helpfulness.

I'd better stop now. I am starting to get really excited about this subject, and my wife always reads this column. So I think I'll just wind up by saying that my wife would certainly make a fine airline stewardess!

Hostess To Pine Grove W.I.

The June meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Grace Bartindale with 13 members present. The President, Mrs. Charles Ross, opened the meeting with the Opening Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect in unison.

Roll call was answered by "an economical home improvement."

The members decided to conduct a canvas in the fall for the Canadian Institute for the Blind. A donation was made to the Hastings County Historical Society.

Mrs. Wm. Slater reported from the Home and Country, bringing to the members' attention the convention for the Trent Valley Area on November 14th and 15th. Mrs. Garnet Searles distributed the C.A.C. bulletins. Mrs. Fred Campbell read an article from the Countrywoman magazine. The members decided to order a picture of the 60th anniversary of the District.

Mrs. David Little, Home Economics Convener, presided over the program and opened with the reading of a poem, "The Ideal Home," by Patience Strong. Several verses were read by the members.

Mrs. Little in her topic, dealt with English customs of interior and exterior decorating to go along with a small budget. She gave many uses of old furniture and articles about the home rather than discard them.

Mrs. Alex Tanner gave a reading, "A Man About the House." All joined in singing "Row Your Boat" with motions. Mrs. Wm. Slater read "When Father Laid the Carpet on the Stairs." Mrs. Little closed the program with a "Decorator's Quiz."

The President closed the meeting with the National Anthem.

Mrs. Bartindale and her assistant, Mrs. Wm. Slater, served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

RylstoneW.I. Meeting

Rylstone Women's Institute was entertained by their President, Mrs. Don Kerr in the Sunday School room of Zion Church on Wednesday afternoon when they held their July meeting. There were 6 members and 7 visitors in attendance.

The girls provided the programme as follows:

Institute Ode and Mary Stewart Collect; roll call, "Tips on Storing Woolens;" reading, "4-H Pledge," by Rena Wright; piano solo, "How Great Thou Art," by Margaret Symes; riddles, by Joyce Wright; contests, "Wives Names," by Lois Tinney, and "Dinner Contest," by Donald Kerr; riddles, by Rowena Kerr; reading, "A Finland 4-H Club," by Donald Kerr.

Silver spoons were presented to the 11 girls who completed their course and Marina Wright and Donald Kerr who received county honours were presented with engraved silver cake plates from the Institute. Mrs. Ernest Irwin made the presentation.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction and lunch was served by the hostess and girls.

Linen Shower For Bride-To-Be

On Thursday evening Mrs. Bill Thomson, 12th Line, entertained between 40 and 50 ladies and gentlemen at a linen shower in honour of the approaching marriage of Clara Wildman.

Contests were conducted by the following: "Names of Places," by Mrs. Carl Reid; "A Meaning Test," by Mrs. Wm. Thomson; "Scrambled Flowers," by Mrs. Clarence Thomson; reading, "Raising" or "What Do You Do With Your Spare Time," by Mrs. Lindsay Finch; a balloon contest, won by Mrs. Carl Reid's team.

Cards was conducted to a gaily decorated chair beside a table laden with gaily wrapped gifts and decorated with pink streamers in keeping with decorations in the other rooms which were decorated with pink bows and streamers and bouquets of pink peonies, orange blossoms and other flowers.

Mrs. Clarence Thomson read an address and Clara was assisted in unwrapping the gifts by Mrs. Clarence Thomson, Mrs. Lloyd Anderson and Mrs. Wm. Thomson.

The bride's book, prepared by Miss Wm. Thomson, was passed around for all to see and the ladies viewed the gifts for which Clara graciously thanked everyone, inviting all to visit her after her marriage.

"For She's A Jolly Good Fellow" was sung and lunch was served by the hostess and assistants, to which all did ample justice.

River Valley W.I.
Children's Day

On Thursday, July 6th, the Annual Children's Day was held at River Valley School House, sponsored by River Valley Women's Institute. Fifteen members, six adult visitors and several children were in attendance.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks was hostess and a lovely bouquet of red roses adorned the President's table.

Mrs. Kenneth Myers opened the meeting with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect in unison. The summer issue of Home and Country was distributed, also the new Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario handbooks. Any member may have a copy free if she gives her name and address to the Branch Secretary.

Mrs. Percy Utman, secretary problem, read the June financial statement and details re the recent social. The correspondence included several thank you cards and a letter from the Provincial President, Mrs. L. G. Lyburner, re the F.W.I.O. project for the coming year. In 1962 the organization will commemorate their 65th anniversary when Institutes were first organized by the late Adelaide Hoodless because of the death of her child, and she was determined that future generations should be better informed. Thus F.W.I.O. decided that the next twelve months would be an ideal time for Branches to sponsor the Foster-Parent Plan under the direction of the Canadian Save the Children Fund. Any Branch can sponsor a child for a full year at a cost of sixty dollars. The Branch can also adopt the child and care for it during its school years or longer. F.W.I.O. asks for the same support for this new project as they have received in the past.

Roll call was answered with "What I read first in the newspapers" and there were varied answers.

The Citizenship and Education Group gave one of their members, Miss Grace Heasman, a cup and saucer on the occasion of her graduation as a Registered Nurse. Her appreciative letter of thanks was read.

The usual amount of $5.00 was donated to the Lady Directors of the Stirling Fair Board, for a special prize of four holiday aprons.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Friendship Link Secretary, gave a message from Abbot's Leigh W.I. and said one of their members may visit Canada.

In the Public Relations report she stated that the Trent Valley Area Convention will be held November 14th and 15th at Club Canara, Belleville, that Mrs. James Haggerty, of Napanee, is the newly-elected F.W.I.C. President and told of a plaque which is being erected at the Adelaide Hoodless Homestead by the National Historic Sites and Monument Board.

Mrs. MacMullen also said that at the National Convention held at Vancouver, B.C., special emphasis was placed on the idea that members of F.W.I.C. must bring a better home life to the country's Indians and Eskimos. This was a dominant theme and citizenship and education will be stressed all across Canada this coming year.

Mrs. Roy Tucker read an article from the June issue of the Country-woman's magazine. She also told how the bulk of work handled by A.C. W.W. is increasing and that a larger budget was voted at the Edinburgh triennial, thus the need of the support of every individual member.

Connie Tucker gathered the "Pennies for Friendship" and Shirley McDonnell gathered the July offering.

Pictures shown.

Mrs. Ernest Carr introduced Mr. William Cairns, who lives in the Valley, and he showed several reels of interesting pictures. There were collections of hunting and fishing, wedding pictures, lumbering in northern Ontario, many scenes of Niagara Falls, including one that was illuminated, the Santa Claus parade and many others that were very beautiful.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks viced appreciative thanks and made the presentation of a small token of remembrance.

Piano solos, vocal selections and recitations were given by the following children: Jean Donohoe, Linda Hay-Ellis, Nellie Bartels, Shirley McDonnell, Jane Bush, Grant Carr, Susan Bush, Joyce Carr and John Bush.

Mrs. Carr read an animal story entitled "How animal babies take their rides."

Two hobbies were displayed, Cross Stitch, by Jane Bush, and a large selection of buttons by Shirley Ann McDonnell. The convener conducted games and contests for the children and the prizes were distributed. All sang the Queen and the Institute.

Grace and the group in charge served cookies and the Institute provided ice cream.

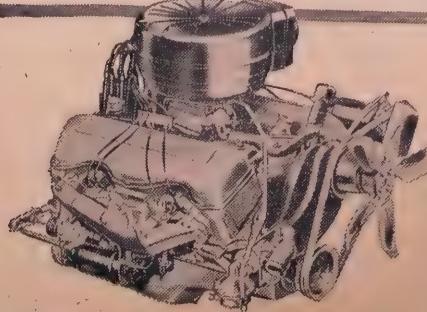

At the close Mrs. Jack Bush voiced thanks to those who had made the afternoon a success.

Don't be in too big a hurry when refuelling your tractor if the engine is hot or running. Better shut it off and let it cool down, advises Hal Wright, farm safety specialist of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. In 1960, 54 farm tractors burned while being refuelled. The gasoline vapours, being heavier than air, flow over the hot manifold and electrical equipment; they may ignite.

HOW MANY MILES SHOULD A TRUCK LAST?

It depends on the driver—on the care that a truck is given—and on the manner in which the truck was built. Let's assume the first two factors are average... the driver is reasonably considerate of his truck—the maintenance it receives is sensible and regular. Now, the mileage we can expect depends on how the truck is built.

WHY DO SOME SUSPENSIONS LAST AND LAST?
Let's talk suspension. Here's another way in which Chevrolet extends truck life... truck-tailored rear suspension in combination with Chevy's famous Independent Front Suspension with torsion springs. Before Chevrolet pioneered this suspension system, road bumps used to be transmitted directly to the chassis—and to the sheet metal and load. But now with Independent Front Suspension and vari-rate rear springs Chevrolet Trucks dissipate the bumps, reduce chassis strain, minimize tire abuse, load damage and driver fatigue. Another way of adding more and more miles to the life of a Chevrolet Truck!

NOW CONSIDER TRUCK FRAMES FOR A MOMENT

Chevrolet Heavy-Duty Trucks are built with a variety of frames tailor-made for a variety of trucking jobs. For example, if you spend all of your driving time off the highway, Chevy recommends one of their flexible frames that supports and gives when giving is the wisest course. If your chores calls for extra heavy highway loads, Chevy has a frame that fits that bill, too. In fact, Chevrolet Trucks come to you with the "just-right" frame for your job. And because of that, months and months of life are added to your Chevrolet Truck—miles and miles of profitable hauling.

THE BIBLE TODAY

Rev. Dr. I. H. Northruff, Bible Society Secretary in Argentina, reports that the result of using dedicated people to offer the Scriptures for sale from door to door, is an increase in Scripture distribution of over one quarter of a million copies.

Dr. Northruff said, "an invitation is made in a special worship service to those who have free time to give, to come forward and to consecrate a part of their time and talents to this task. Then the pastor or church board sends a letter of recommendation assuming responsibility for those who are to participate in this type of ministry."

The final figures for Scripture distribution in 1960 show that 73,000 Bibles, 74,000 New Testaments and 946,000 portions (at least one whole alfalfa should be cut when 10% of the Stirling Softball Midgets continued their winning ways Tuesday night at the Henry Street playground when they defeated Madoc by a score of 14 to 7 in seven-inning game.

Midgets Win

K. Grills, of Glen Ross, was on the mound for the locals for the first four innings and blanked the visitors while the homesters had racked up twelve counters. In the fifth Bolte went to the mound, but lacked his usual effectiveness and the visitors hit his offerings hard to push across six runs. Grills returned to the mound and held the losers to one run for the rest of the game.

Stirling broke the game wide open with six runs in the first inning, added one in the third, four in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Won in Madoc

Playing in Madoc on Wednesday evening last, Stirling defeated the homesters 10 to 2.

On Thursday night they defeated Glen Ross on the latter's home diamond 6 to 3.

Streets Given Clean-Up

The streets in the business section were given a wash-up on Friday last by Village employees and on Monday the cross walks and parking lanes were painted by Maurice Bell and D. Myers, local painters.

Now that the streets are cleaned up it is hoped that citizens will assist in keeping them so. There are a number of metal containers placed along the main streets for refuse, but unfortunately there are those who throw their candy bar wrappers, potato chip bags, etc. on the street rather than in the containers. This practice should be discontinued and every effort made to keep the Village tidied up.

Wellman's W.M.S.

On Tuesday, July 4th, Wellman's W.M.S. held their regular meeting and entertained the Daisy Mission Band at the home of Mrs. Omar Dracup.

The President, Mrs. Omar Dracup, opened the meeting with the singing of the hymn, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The President welcomed the guests and then called on Miss Carol Beckett who was in charge of the worship service.

The hymn, "We Would See Jesus" was sung, followed by prayer. The Scripture Lesson, Philippians 4: 4-10, was read by Nancy Tompkins. Carol Beckett read a story to illustrate the danger of allowing harmful thoughts to find a place in our minds. The worship service closed with a solo, "How Great Thou Art," sung by Mary Dracup.

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Dracup.

It was announced that a bale of clothing for the needy would be packed in the next two weeks.

Programme

The programme for the meeting had been prepared by Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, leader of the Daisy Mission Band and opened by singing the hymn "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus," after which the members of the Mission Band repeated the Mission Band Purpose, led by Mrs. Fletcher. Virginia and Lyle Pollock rendered a duet "Jesus Bids Us Shine." Piano solos were given by Gayle Hoover and Nancy Tompkins. Grant Dunham gave a reading, "Overalls." Janette Dracup sang a solo, "If You Have A Pleasant Thought."

Mrs. Dracup thanked all who had helped prepare the programme and those who had taken part and closed the meeting with the Mizpah Benediction.

The ladies enjoyed a contest on names of the Books of the Bible, prepared by Jean Tompkins, while Mrs. Fletcher and the children played games outside and visited the fish pond. Proceeds from the fish pond, which amounted to $2.05, was donated to the Baby Band.

Lunch was served and a social time enjoyed. There were thirteen ladies and fifteen children in attendance.

What Others Say ILOGIC DOESN'T ALWAYS MAKE SENSE

(The Printed Word)

The young are impressed by logic. Their elders know that logic sometimes doesn't make much sense.

Remember the appeal one weird theory had for the young? It was called technocracy. A young fellow hereabouts was most impressed with the argument that under technocracy things would be planned in a logical way. For example, farm homes would be built in "clusters of convenience" so that the present silly system of market roads around each section would not be necessary.

Then the young man bought a farm and built his home in the least convenient spot — because it was on a lovely slope beside a stream. If anyone had forced him to move his home to a "cluster of convenience," he would have fought like the very dickens against it.

And who would argue that there is logic in golf or in fishing with an eight-ounce line?

Yet there is never any shortage of citizens ready to save the world with some new system that proves that the present one "doesn't make sense." These crusaders, loaded with logic, would plan things more efficiently. There would be far less advertising. Competition would be done away with because it doesn't make sense. It would be far more efficient for the government to plan everything and manufacture only those things that citizens need. Logic and efficiency would go hand in hand.

And there would be no more laughter — because laughter is inefficient. Or love, because love is unplanned!

Tufts — Stapley
Families 36th
Annual Reunion

The annual Tufts-Stapley picnic was held on Saturday, July 15th at Tweed Memorial Park, with an attendance of 75 to 100.

Dinner was served at 12:30, which everyone enjoyed. Following the business part of the programme, games and races were enjoyed by the children; also several contests for the grown-ups, which proved very humorous.

One of the feature attractions of the reunion was the attendance of 4 sisters and 2 brothers, all over 70 years of age. All except one attended the first picnic in 1926 at Downey's Rapids. They are respectively: Mrs. Albert Houser 82, Mrs. Lillian Palmer 79, Mrs. Cosmo Tufts 77, Mr. Hartford Tufts 76, Mrs. Mary Rutan 72 and Mrs. Maude Clarke 70.

Everyone departed after a very enjoyable day. The families are hoping to see a lot of new and old relatives again next year, same place.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

ONTARIO FARM INCOME INCREASED IN 1960

Total cash income of Ontario farmers in 1960 was $877,069,000. This was an increase of nearly $20 million over 1959.

Figures have just been made available by the Farm Economics and Statistics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture showing the source of this cash income.

The average dollar of cash income was divided as follows: Livestock, 42c (hogs 13c; cattle, calves, and sheep, 28c; poultry, 6c); livestock products, 28c (eggs, 7c; dairy products, 21c); other products, 30c (tobacco, 10c; wheat, 2c; other grains, seeds and hay, 1c; vegetables and other field products, 13c; fruit, 3c; miscellaneous farm products, 1c).

PRICE RISE IN WESTERN GRAINS

Eastern livestock and poultry feeders, especially those in Ontario, may find increased use of local grains for feeding purposes due to resulting effects of the prairie drought.

Shortages of Western feed grains reflect in the past weeks price rise for Western grains at local dealers. Officials of the Ontario Wheat Producers' Marketing Board say that Ontario producers are presently reluctant to make forward sales and that greater interest is indicated in supplementing Ontario grains for feed.

In summing up the present situation, based on the dealer retail price of $1.81 per bushel for sample Western Wheat, cost to the feeders is about $59.73 per ton.

Ontario wheat, on the other hand, retailing at $1.50 per bushel and mixed at a ratio of 90 lbs. to 10 lbs. of soybean meal to bring the protein content up to equal that of Western wheat would cost $53.20 per ton to the feeder — a saving of $6.53 per ton.

Normal consumption of Ontario winter wheat in province as feed is approximately 10 million bushels and about the same amount of Western wheat is fed on Ontario farms.

NEW INSECTICIDE FOR CORN BORER

Sevin, a new insecticide, is recommended for controlling the European corn borer in sweet corn.

Corn plants treated with it can be safely fed to livestock seven days after the last application, states M. Hudon of the Canada Department of Agriculture's Experimental Farm.

A rate of three pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder per acre and two applications, a week apart in early July, give satisfactory control.

Cobs from heavily infested corn receiving this treatment in 1959 were 31 per cent marketable. In 1960, when the infestation was lighter, 98 per cent were marketable.

The insecticides DDT, heptachlor, toxaphene and endrin can be used when the corn plants are not to be fed to livestock.

Ryania can be used when the corn plants are to be fed to livestock. However, it is expensive and the high dosages of wettable powder required may clog the spray nozzles.

Weed of the Week

SOW-THISTLES

Field sow-thistle, creeping sow-thistle, hare's-lettuce, thistle milkweed, milky tassel, cowherb: all are names associated with the three sow-thistles found in Ontario — perennial, common, and spiny. All sow-thistles have a white, bitter, milky juice.

The seeds of all sow-thistles are scattered by the wind in the same manner as dandelion seeds. Sow-thistles are commonly found in spring seeded crops such as oats, barley, corn, soybeans. In early July, about the time the oats and barley begin to ripen, badly infested fields will take on a patchwork appearance of yellow, covered by the yellow sow-thistle blooms, which always stick up a few inches above the grain crop.

According to the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, the old slogan of "plow in July when it's hot and dry" is still a very useful control measure in heavily infested areas. Modern chemicals properly used, however, will prevent sow-thistle from ever becoming a serious weed problem.

2,4,DE, although more expensive, is more effective on sow-thistle than 2,4-D.

Sixteen to twenty ounces of 2,4,DE acid in twenty gallons of water per acre, applied to the grain crop at the six-inch to shot-blade stage, will keep sow-thistle well under control and grain and pasture became available for other livestock.

It has been estimated that the acreage of oats and tame hay released over the last 30 years is 6.7 millions and, if pasture is included, the land made available in this way for other uses amounts to 10 million improved acres.

The Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects concluded that between 1941 and 1955 some five million acres of land were freed for other uses through the replacement of horses by tractors but added that in the next 25 years no more than two million acres of improved land could be freed in this way.

Despite a 2½ million drop in the number of horses between 1929 and 1959, there was an increase of 11.8 percent in total animal units in that period.

Grain-consuming animals were up 12.7 percent but hay eaters were down 1.5 percent.

The large number of cattle on farms has not entirely absorbed the forage production formerly consumed by greater numbers of horses and sheep.

Horse numbers first climbed over the three million mark in 1915.

In 1933 they dropped below three million; in 1947 below two million, and in 1954 below one million.

In 1959 the horse population was located mainly in the prairies — 312,000 head; central provinces 240,000; Atlantic provinces 39,000, and British Columbia 23,000.

The 1956 census reported 19,500 horses elsewhere than on farms,

One Horse To A Farm

"Look, there's a horse!"

In this age, that is a fairly natural exclamation on seeing one of these noble animals in the country.

Recent estimates by Canada Department of Agriculture economists show there is now about one horse to a farm in Canada where, 40 years ago, the ratio was five to a farm.

The number of horses fell from a peak of 3,450,000 in 1921 to about 570,000 in 1960. That is also about the number of tractors on farms.

As the horse was displaced by the tractor, the farmer's chores decreased and grain and pasture became available for other livestock.

It has been estimated that the acreage of oats and tame hay released by the decline in horse population over the last 30 years is 6.7 millions and, if pasture is included, the land made available in this way for other uses amounts to 10 million improved acres.

The Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects concluded that between 1941 and 1955 some five million acres of land were freed for other uses through the replacement of horses by tractors but added that in the next 25 years no more than two million acres of improved land could be freed in this way.

Detlor Family, Oak Lake, Makes Farm Woodlot Pay

(By E. P. Edson)

There are a number of competent tree farmers in the Townships north of Belleville and Trenton who are taking good care of their forests which sometimes were handed down to them from their ancestors.

Such a family are the Detlors, of Oak Lake, halfway between Foxboro and Stirling.

Not long ago, I walked through their woods with William Detlor, 73, and his son, Harold Detlor, 47. Later in the day I met Harold's sons, Doug, 23, and Ralph 18, and Doug's son, Glen, 3.

The Detlor farm is one of the larger farms (367 acres) in the district and as well managed as any. However, it is the forest even more than the farm land which makes an impression.

Mr. William Detlor in his younger days, and now Harold, assisted by his sons, developed their woods into a tree growing farm of a type such as we wish would eventually exist all through Southern Ontario.

When William Detlor's father, the late William J. Detlor, bought the first 50 acres of land 80 years ago the little woods on the property — as also throughout the County — were cut over by the once mighty lumber industry at Trenton. Mr. Detlor used to work as foreman for the great Rathbun Lumber Company which along with the Gilmour Lumber Co. maintained some of the biggest sawmills in North America.

When the present head of the family, William, took over the property from his father the woods slowly began to recover, but he assisted nature vigorously and developed a way of farm woodlot management which is being now perfected by his son, Harold, and he hopes will be continued by the grandsons and great grandsons.

The first, second and third Detlor kept on adding to the original farm, both arable land and forests, until at last the woods on the Detlor farm comprise around one hundred acres, and some of their stands are now first class hardwoods and mixed woods forest. The Detlors always took interest in the development of the young growth, paying particular attention to good cutting practices. Not only did they protect young trees at the time of felling mature trees, but they also well understood the importance of proper density. Where the stands were too open they carefully built up the existing growth, and where the large trees tried to steal sun and food from the regeneration, they removed the wolf-trees and mature timber. The results are striking. You don't see many damaged trees in the Detlor woods, nor are there any large numbers of inferior species to be found. However, the Detlors are in no hurry to cut, for instance, the numerous poplars until they see that young pines, spruces and other good species are beginning to appear throughout the stand. Where nature was slow in establishing young growth, they gave a helping hand and they intend to plant more spruce and pine in the open spaces. They do not tolerate any waste land on their farm, and they carefully watch the growth of their trees to find out where the soil is best for this or that species.

Contrary to established belief in our part of the country, Mr. Harold Detlor thinks that even Balsam fir and white cedar can be developed into good valuable timber, but he knows that fast growing balsam should not be kept in the woods after it has reached nine or ten inches in diameter because older trees of this species all too often start to rot at the stump.

Of white cedar he says: "This is a tree which should be much more appreciated. A cedar reminds me of a pig. There is nothing wasted in a pig except the squeal. White cedar gives fence posts, poles, saw timber and wreathe." However, Harold knows that cedars are very often slow growing trees and he watches them closely. Where they do not want to develop fast enough, out they go, but in places where their shoots are normal or better, he nurses them along.

In short, the Detlors treat trees with the same care they treat their animals. They know that a well developed tree can have a considerable value and by looking at their woods, you can see that the forest repaid them handsomely for their love and efforts.

The Good Driver

"Personally, I don't go for these so-called safety steering wheels. I haven't seen a bad crash yet where the deep-dish wheel hasn't buckled hopelessly."

This surprising remark, overheard by the writer of this column, was made by a driver of above-average intelligence. He led the laughter at his own expense when some one pointed out his "blind spot." The modern steering wheel is specifically designed to crumple in a crash. Thousands of drivers in a collision have escaped with bruises because the wheel buckled, cushioning and distributing the force of impact, when an unyielding or brittle wheel would have inflicted severe chest injuries. A crumpled wheel in a crashed car is evidence of a piece of mechanism that did its job well.

Today's automobile has many standard and optional features that materially increase the protection against collision injury. Literally millions of dollars have been spent by various automobile manufacturers in research into the cause of injuries. And the information obtained has been freely exchanged between companies in the public interest, without regard to normal considerations of competition.

The millions spent on safety research have been slow to return to the car manufacturers. The average car owner would rather pay for extra chrome, than for something that might save his life, or that of his passengers.

The crash-within-a-crash is the main cause of bodily injury in a collision. Safety steering wheels, seat belts, padded panels and sun visors, safety door locks, all add greatly to in-car protection. The Ontario Safety League strongly recommends that these devices should be given budget priority above whitewall tires, chrome strips and two-tone paint jobs. The League's only reservation is the warning that such safety accessories merely help to prevent injury — they do not prevent collisions. The best all-round safety device is always... a good driver.

Prepared barbecue sauce you like best and let the bird soak in it for at least one hour. This gives the chicken full flavour.

When the fire is burning well, with an even glow, start the birds. Begin cooking with the skin sides up. Turn the birds frequently and every time you turn them, brush on more sauce with a pastry brush.

Select birds that are a uniform size, so that they'll all be cooked at the same time. Look for the government grade tag. It indicates quality. Special is a purple tag, Grade A is red, Grade B blue, Grade C yellow.

One wonders if in this particular case it would not have been safer to divert the auto traffic to the sidewalk however, I'm sure any such blasphemy would set off an enraged howl that would wondrous to hear.

Let's Have The News:

Holiday time is here, and it brings a steady stream of visitors to the community, while scores of local residents are holidaying at other points.

Every one of these visitors is a news item of interest to at least some of our readers and we are very anxious to receive these items. Send them in, or bring them in, phone them in, or if you live in the country, let your district correspondent know. We do not wish to miss these "comings and goings", but if someone doesn't tell us, how are we to know? May we count on your cooperation.

At a special meeting of Stirling Village Council held on Monday night, Harry Cooke was given the job of installing the drainage system on Church Street at an estimated price of $390, of which $519 is for material. This decision by Council was reached after a lengthy discussion with Mr. Grant Locke, engineer, and Mr. Cooke.

Harvey Pitcher To Retire; Sells Property

After operating the Stirling Branch of H. C. Pitcher & Sons, International Farm Machinery dealers for the past sixteen years, H. C. Pitcher has decided to call it "quits." He has sold his Front Street premises to the Stirling Creamery Limited, but hasn't fixed a definite date for his retirement.

In announcing his retirement, "Harvey," as he is well and popularly known to a host of friends and business associates, says, "I have worked hard all my life and now feel like taking things a bit easier." While he will continue to lend a hand in some capacity to his sons at Frankford, he plans to do more fishing and take life easier.

For many of the older folk of the Village and district "Harvey" has been a daily meeting place, where the current events were discussed and the odd story told, and these associations will be greatly missed. One of the most popular business men of the Village, Harvey's many friends will join in wishing him many years of good health and happiness.

Linda Elizabeth Sine and Marvin Clyde Cooney Exchange Vows

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was the setting for a pretty summer wedding on Saturday, July 22nd at two o'clock, when Rev. P. J. Hommeren united in marriage Linda Elizabeth Sine, daughter of Mrs. Delbert Sine and the late Mr. Sine, of Stirling, to Marvin Clyde Cooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cooney, Stirling R.R. 1. Tall standards of gladioli and shasta 'mums adorned the chancel and white satin bows and mauve 'mums the guest pews.

Mrs. Jack Nurse, of Peterborough, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the guest soloist, Miss Donald Heath of Harold, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and a "Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Kenneth Sine, Harold R.R. 1, the radiant bride wore a gown of pure silk organza over nylon tulle, fashioned with long-sifted bodice, having a scalloped sabrina neckline, outlined with chantilly lace and sequins, and long lily-point sleeves.

The bouffant skirt, extending to a chapel train, was accented with a self bow in the back and applique lace sprinkled with sequins.

She wore a double crown dotted with sequins and a finger-tip veil of silk illusion and carried a white Bible crested with two mauve orchids with trailing stephanotis.

Miss Gail Sine attended her sister as maid of honour and Mrs. Claude Trumble, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Hugh Lyons, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in white silk organza, with scoop neckline, cap sleeves, and pleated cumberbund with fan spray and panel in a contrasting shade of mauve. Picture hats with matching shoes completed their costumes. They carried bouquets of mauve and white shasta 'mums.

The little flower girl, Miss Linda Cooney, of Trenton, was demure and sweet in her gown made on similar lines to those of the senior attendants, and carried a basket of mauve and white shasta 'mums.

Master Kevin McKeown, dressed in dark trousers, white shoes and blazer, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Norman Cooney, of Stirling, while the guests were ushered in by Mr. Claude Trumble and Mr. Hugh Lyons, both of Stirling.

The reception was held in the church parlours, where the bride's mother greeted the guests, attired in a tunic style gown of magenta and beige figured pure silk, with beige accessories and wore a corsage of tall man roses. The bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in navy lace with pink accessories and corsage of pink roses, assisted in the receiving line.

The bride's table, with its white damask linen cloth, was centred by an all-white three-tier wedding cake topped with bells and lily-of-the-valley and flanked by candelabra and bouquets of sweet peas.

Complaints Heard Illegal Parking

Chief of Police Ketcheson has advised the News-Argus that complaints are being received of motorists, including some of our local business men, parking their cars and trucks in the business section for lengthy periods thereby depriving shoppers of adequate parking facilities. He is reluctant to enforce the one-hour parking regulations but unless there is an improvement in the situation he feels there is no other course to follow. A little co-operation on the part of merchants and their employees should be adequate to overcome the problem.

Hastings County Hostein Breeders Twilight Meeting At Martinvale Farm

"Extra dollars needed?"

Any pure bred cattle breeder who wants to take full advantage of his herd should have his herd on Select Registration and on Record of Production. This was the thought of the address given by Mr. Ted Burns, Animal Husbandry Department, O.A.C., Guelph, at the Hastings County Holstein Breeders Club Annual Twilight Meeting held at the "Martinvale Farm," Tweed, on Thursday evening, July 20th, and which was attended by approximately 350 Holstein breeders, 4-H club members and friends.

Judging Class

The evening's programme commenced with a judging class followed by a Grading Demonstration by the District Holstein Fieldman, Mr. Gerald Nelson. Official judges for the class were Mr. Harold McCall, Napanee, Zone Director of the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada; Mr. Tom May, Picton, and Mr. Delbert McComb, Belleville.

Winners

Mr. Sidney MacDonald, Agricultural Representative, congratulated the Martins on their fine new barn. Mr. Harry Coulter, Tweed, President of the Holstein Club, on its successful promotion during the year and announced and presented the winners.

In the ladies section the winners of the club awards were Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Stirling and Mrs. Ridley Wallbridge, Belleville. Mrs. Mac Sharp, Stirling, won the Chisholm's of Roslin gift.

The winners of the club awards for men were: Mr. Don Neal, Madoc and Mr. John McGregor, Marmora. The Chisholm's of Roslin gifts were won by Mr. John McFarlane, Shannonville, and Mr. A. Bates, Roslin.

Ted Burnside Guest Speaker

Mr. Ted Burnside, son of Max Burnside, Madoc, was guest speaker and by use of charts very vividly showed those present that the cattle that were officially graded under Selective Registration were purchased at sales over the past number of years at a higher price than those not graded and the same was true for those cows with R.O.P. Records. He strongly suggested to all present that they make these extra dollars by using Selective Registration and Record of Performance which can also help greatly in deciding what unit size should be used on one's herd.

Rural Hydro Present

Martinsdale Farms, owned by Albert Martin and his son, Donald, were a splendid example of how hydro can be put to use on the modern dairy farm. Area Manager, Mr. Cox, of Tweed, introduced Farm Sales Supervisor, Keith Bennett, who briefly discussed rural hydro and showed a film on what equipment modern farmers are using today.

Mr. Doug Detor, Stirling, President of the Hastings 4-H Club Leaders' Association, thanked the Holstein Breeders Club for having the 4-H Club members as its guests.

The evening was arranged by a committee of Harry Coulter, Ken Thompson, Albert Martin and Allan McComb.

As a token of appreciation for providing such fine facilities for the Twilight Meeting the Hastings Co. Holstein Breeders Club presented a folding chair to Don and Isabelle Martin.

Junior awoke at 2 a.m. and could not go back to sleep. He kept pestering his mother to tell him a story. "For goodness sakes keep quiet," the distraught mother said. "Your father will be home soon and you can listen to the one he tells me."

Timely Tips

Plan to fumigate the grain left in your granary if it's infested. Professor Harold Goble, Provincial Entomologist, suggests making the bin as gas-tight as possible and following manufacturer's recommendations when using fumigants. Some cautions: work in pairs and do the job as quickly as possible. Open the doors and windows and wear a recommended gas mask. Remove livestock from the stable immediately below the bin before applying fumigants.

Is there poison ivy on your property? The Weed Control Act states that you must get rid of it. If it can't be cultivated out, spray it with amitriazole. The spray can be used anytime up to the middle of August. Follow with a treatment next year to get those plants that will be missed.

Keep your layers out of the summer egg slump. One way is to keep them cool. Reducing the depth of litter will help, says Professor J. P. Walker, poultry researcher at O.A.C. He advises keeping litter depth down to 3 inches or less. In this way, he says, the hens are able to scratch down to the cooler floor and are more comfortable.

You'll save time in the field and money on repairs if your combine is in top working order. Check it now. Here are some hints from Professor J. H. Lee, O.A.C. machinery engineer. Be sure the cylinder turns freely. Straighten any bent rasp bars or cylinder teeth. Check the knife for loose sections, and hold-down clips to keep the knife flat on the ledger. Straighten bent teeth and replace broken teeth on the pickup assembly.

PICNICS

A French queen once said "It is not riches, nor prestige nor gold I want to leave my children — it is happy memories." Picnics are an ideal time for happy memories. You need not go far, just a lovely spot beside your flower bed will do.

Of course, we mean by picnics the kind where all the food is prepared and cooked at home in advance. A simple menu with lots of each dish is the first rule for a successful one. Here are a few suggestions from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, to help you in your choice of foods:

Appetizers

Whole small tomatoes; carrot, celery or cucumber fingers; radishes; lettuce or cabbage wedges — wash these finger foods and pack in plastic bags. Set on crushed ice to keep cool and crisp unless you have an insulated container. Other favourites: Potato chips, crackers, hard cooked eggs (with shells left on — keep them cool); pickles and olives. A thermos of hot clear soup is good on a cool day. Cold fruit juices are thirst quenchers, and everybody will be there.

Main Course

Meats: Chicken (whole birds or cut-ups), small roast of cooked pork or beef; canned ham; canned pork luncheon meats; packaged cold cuts. Hot Casseroles: beans, beef stew, scalloped potatoes, macaroni, or any favourite recipe. Cold Salads: potato salad, chicken, egg, fish and so on. Warning: Do avoid food poisoning at all costs. Keep casseroles piping hot and mixed salads thoroughly chilled until time to eat. To do this, pack in an insulated container or wrap carefully in layers of newspaper. This will keep your foods hot or cold for one to two hours. Sandwiches: These too are marvellous man-course dishes. For a school picnic, a brownie hike or a family outing when children are small, tailor-made sandwiches individually wrapped are perhaps the easiest of all picnic menus. For an adult or a teen age group it's more fun when each can make his own "hero" sandwich on the spot.

Desserts

Fruit pies like rhubarb and berry are popular. Assorted cheeses and fresh fruit of any kind; cakes, squares, or cookies can be a pleasant surprise — leave in the pan and cut on the spot.

Beverages

Carry a thermos of cold milk, hot cocoa, tea or coffee, or carry along powdered fruit concentrate and bottles of fresh water for mixing at the picnic site.

DINNER'S IN THE OVEN LET THE COMPANY COME

Dinner's in the oven, guests are on the way, and you're a relaxed hostess because Cheese Puff is an easy company dish to fix and serve. It's just about perfect after a Sunday afternoon in the country, or for any special occasion. Young and old like it.

Serve the food buffet style, and let everyone help themselves. After preparing the Cheese Puff, complete the feast with French bread, tossed green salad, crisp relishes, tomato juice and fresh fruit cups.

Here is a favourite recipe for Cheese Puff, from Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

12 slices bread
3 medium onions, minced
12 slices process cheese
1 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne and pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
3 eggs, beaten
3 cups milk

First, arrange alternate layers of bread, onion and cheese in 6 individual 1½-cup baking dishes, with cheese as the top layer.

Then, beat the eggs and milk with an egg beater; add the seasonings; divide the liquid among the 6 baking dishes.

Finally, oven poach at 350 degs. F. about 30 minutes or until the custard is just set and the bread has puffed up.

SEVEN SECRETS FOR SALAD SUCCESS

A cool, crisp, colourful salad is a welcome addition to any summer meal.

Serve the salad in a variety of ways — as an appetizer, accompaniment to the main course, main dish, or salad-dessert combination.

It's easy to serve salads at their best if you know the secrets of salad making as suggested by Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Start with fresh, well-drained ingredients. Be sure they are thoroughly chilled.

Choose a salad that is suitable for the course with which it will be served. Have a light salad for an appetizer, a substantial one containing meat for the main course, an aspic or jellied salad as an accompaniment to the main course, and a fruit salad for dessert.

Texture is very important. With soft foods, add something crisp, for variety (apple chunks in a fruit salad). With crisp foods something soft is needed (cheddar cheese bits in a tossed green salad).

Use different dressings. You can change the flavour of mayonnaise by adding herbs and spices. Try celery seed with potato salad or tarragon with sea food.

Garnishes do a lot for salads, so don't forget them. Try pickle slices, tiny florets or cauliflower, or apple wedges.

Use a serving bowl that is the right size, shape and colour to show off the salad to the best advantage. Serve the salad casually — it should not look fixed.

Add colour to meals by using salads as a colourful highlight. Attractive salad ingredients are numerous — red tomatoes, orange slices, melon balls, egg wedges.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WASH UDDERS WITH PAPER TOWELS TO HELP PREVENT MASTITIS

One of the better ways to prevent mastitis is to use paper towels for washing udders.

Cloths and sponges may scrub dirt off the udder but they carry germs, says Professor F.H.S. Newbold of the Ontario Veterinary College. He recommends washing udders with paper towels.

Paper sterilization of cloths and sponges is impossible in the few minutes between one cow and the next. To sterilize a cloth infected by Streptococcus agalactiae takes up to 5 hours soaking in a disinfectant solution 10 to 20 times as strong as normal.

Paper towels overcome these problems. Use a fresh one for each cow so that germs or dirt can't be carried from the cow to the disinfectant or from one cow to the next. Less disinfectant solution is needed, since there is no dilution or contamination.

Paper towels cost about 25¢ a cent a day to wash one cow, or about 16 cents per day for a 40-cow herd.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION INCREASES

Canadian cattlemen increased their use of artificial insemination during 1960 to the point where almost 15 per cent of the cow population was bred artificially.

The overall increase, states an annual report of the Livestock Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, was approximately 11.5 per cent over the previous year.

The greatest increase in artificial insemination was reported in the prairie provinces, but organized AI businesses operated on an increased scale in nine provinces. The only province not reporting activity in this field was Newfoundland.

There were 14 semen producing organizations — unchanged from last year — and 219 semen purchasing organizations, up 32 from 1959.

Bull studs were maintained in six provinces — Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia — and supplied the bulk of semen used throughout the country. Some semen was imported from the United States, and some was exported to England, Grenada West Indies and Russia.

Weed of the Week

RAGWEED TIME AGAIN

About 100,000 people in eastern Canada will suffer from hay fever this summer. According to the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, ragweed is the culprit responsible for much of this suffering. In general, hay fever in Ontario is caused by tree pollens in April and May, grass pollens in June and July and ragweed pollen in late summer.

Ragweed is an annual, with a much branched and slightly hairy stem, which grows from 1 to 3 feet high. The leaves are finely divided giving a ragged appearance to the plant. The flowers are yellowish, on long, slender spikes at the ends of the branches. A single plant may produce 5,000 seeds.

Mowing is not very effective in ragweed control because seeds are produced low down on the plant where they are often missed by the mower. After-harvest-cultivation on stubble land is effective if the cultivations are repeated at intervals until late fall. Row crops help control ragweed if preceded by thorough fall and spring cultivation.

Ragweed may be controlled in the early, rapid growth stage by 5 ounces of 2,4-D amine acid per acre. However new plants spring up throughout the entire season, so several applications may be necessary to prevent all plants from seeding. For further information on spraying, follow the manufacturer's directions and refer to Ontario Department of Agriculture Publication No. 75 — "1961 Chemical Weed Control Guide", available from the County Agricultural Representative.

Fortunately for the many victims of hay fever, ragweed is not prevalent in most parts of northern Ontario. Hay fever sufferers would be well advised to take their holidays in this area during the ragweed season. For further information refer to "Havens From Hay Fever", published by the Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

300,000 men work gathering the pulpwood harvest annually.

FROZEN IMPORTS

Canadian output of frozen fruits and vegetables is growing but it is still necessary to import about one-third of domestic demand, according to Canada Department of Agriculture's economists.

Production of frozen vegetables in this country has tripled to 51.8 million pounds in the last five years, they report. Frozen fruit production increased at a slower pace but at 27 million pounds in 1959-60 it was 1.6 million pounds more than five years previously.

These figures do not include frozen French fried potatoes nor blueberries.

The main products imported are strawberries, raspberries, peas, beans and sweet corn.

BOVINE TB WAS THREAT TO HUMAN BEINGS TOO

Ridding the country of bovine tuberculosis has had considerable impact on the health of Canadians, many of whom have, in the past, contracted tuberculosis from cattle.

Dr. R. M. Price, who studied 300 cases of non-pulmonary tuberculosis in Toronto in 1934, found that 15 per cent were due to the bovine bacillus. The figure has dropped considerably since then.

Dr. G. J. Wherrett, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, said recently in a letter to the Canada Department of Agriculture, "... since the very excellent programme for the control of bovine tuberculosis by the Department of Agriculture and the extensive pasteurization programmes throughout Canada, bovine tuberculosis has been practically eliminated as a cause of disease in man."

"This fact, alone," commented a Health of Animals Division spokesman, "demonstrates that our long fight to eliminate the disease in cattle has not been in vain."

Furrow and Fallow By Fairbairn

An emergency meeting on the feed grain situation because of the drought in western Canada was held in Toronto recently. It was called by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture but included representatives of all farm groups interested in feed grain, of provincial and federal departments of agriculture and co-operatives who sell feed as well as marketing farm produce.

The general impression we received from the meeting was that as many farmers in eastern Canada stand to benefit from the western drought as stand to lose by it. Farmers who grow most of their own feed — and many dairy and beef men do — seem to have pretty fair crops and are not worried about increased prices of feed grain or even concentrates if the latter do happen to go up. Feed prices have risen a little as the result of increase in grain prices from about 11 cents a bushel on wheat to almost 30 cents on barley. Poultry producers may be affected more adversely, of course, but there will probably be a 2 million bushel surplus of Ontario winter wheat this year which could be used as feed.

One of the recommendations of the meeting was that the federation ask OAC specialists to update studies on the relative feed value of winter wheat so producers can substitute it intelligently in the feed rations. It was also brought out in this meeting that the coarse grain growing areas of western Canada have not been hit as severely by the drought as have the milling wheat and grain areas.

It's a good thing dairy farmers don't have to concern themselves too much about feed problems because they are facing one of the most difficult periods in their marketing history. Immediately following the announcement by the Whole Milk League that it was taking steps to become a marketing board (incidentally, early petitions returned indicate a favourable response but these are only from very small markets), the other three dairy groups — cheese, cream and concentrated — sent a delegation to tell Agricultural Minister Goodfellow they were prepared to proceed with a marketing plan for their groups of fluid milk shippers who did not wish to join in any overall plan.

We predicted this possibility a week ago but had hoped it would not happen — we still feel that chaos will result in milk marketing if there are any overall plans.

two agencies. The two producer groups would find themselves competing with one another for the milk market any surplus production (which there is now) would place either or both in an almost untenable bargaining position.

Apparently the three groups are afraid the league wants to have a marketing plan of its own operating before proceeding with the overall plan. League officials explain that they only want to tidy up their own backyard before co-operating with the other groups. It would be unfortunate if suspicions of one another's intentions prevents the development of a unified marketing plan.

Let's face the fact that some pressure is being put on the fluid shipper to get them to join and some represent and resist this — that's natural. Some of this pressure is coming (we suspect) from the federal government which is not happy about butter and powdered milk over-production. Some of this is quite likely being applied to the provincial government and it, in turn, is reluctant to step into the picture with production controls or any other state controls to counteract excess production. So, the producers are being urged — not openly but in more subtle ways — to take over control of milk marketing and impose their own measures.

CONSERVATION NEWS

OPEN SEASON FOR BIG GAME SET FOR TWEED DISTRICT

Nearly twenty-thousand persons will be anxious to learn the dates of the open season to take deer in the Tweed Conservation District this Fall. This is the number of hunters expected to be out after venison this year and as many have to plan their holidays well in advance, the Minister of the Department of Lands and Forests, the Hon. J. W. Spooner, made a special effort to get the season set and the people informed as far in advance as possible.

In the Northern part of the Tweed District (generally north of No. 7 Highway), the deer season is from November 6th to November 18th.

South of No. 7 Highway and north of No. 2, the deer season is from November 6th to November 11th.

Hunters will be able to take moose again this year in the northern part of the district and the license fee will be $10.00, the same amount paid by persons hunting north of North Bay.

Last year there were fifty-two moose taken in the Tweed District and the population of these large animals does not show any signs of a set back. Recently a yearling bull was killed by a car on Highway 41 at Mazinaw Lake.

High Powered rifles are permitted for the taking of deer and moose during the prescribed seasons in the Tweed District.

Today's Farmer Earns, Invests Spends More

Canadian farmers, their ranks thinned by industrial expansion, are earning, investing, and spending more money now than they did 25 years ago.

Farm values have doubled, the average total investment per farm has tripled and capital expenditures for farm construction, machinery and equipment has increased almost 10 times over that spent in the mid-30's.

At the same time the annual gross income from farming in Canada — only $86.1 million in the 1935-39 period — topped the $3 billion mark in 1955-56 and continues to climb.

These, and a host of other interesting facts and figures, are contained in the article "Agriculture in the National Economy" in the current issue of The Economic Annalist, published bimonthly by the economics division of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

The article was prepared by C. K. Varkaris and G. P. Boucher. Mr. Varkaris has since left agriculture on transfer to another government department.

Other highlights of their report:

Expanding industrialization is reducing the number of people living on farms. In the 1940's about 25 per cent of Canada's population lived on farms. By 1956 this figure had shrunk to 16.4 per cent and is still dwindling annually.

The total farm land area in Canada covers about 173.9 million acres, including farm woodlots. Of this total, only 106.3 million acres are improved, 62.9 million acres produce crops, 24.6 million acres are in summer-fallow and 10.1 million acres are in pasture.

Acreage of individual farms has increased, but the number of farms has declined steadily since 1931 in the Atlantic, Central and Prairie regions. Throughout the country the number of occupied farms dropped from 728,664 in 1931 to 575,015 in 1956. Economists agree that the 1961 census will show a further decline in the number of occupied farms.

The average farm size has increased steadily from 224 acres in 1931 to 302 acres in 1956.

Capital invested in farm businesses jumped from $4.5 billion in 1935 to about $11.4 billion in 1959, an increase of 253.3 per cent.

Farmers in 1935 had $3.4 billion invested in land and buildings, $0.5 billion in livestock and $0.5 billion in farm machinery. In 1959 they had $7.2 billion invested in land and buildings, $2 billion in livestock, and $2.2 billion in farm machinery.

The average total investment per farm was up from $6,386 in 1935 to $20,783 in 1959.

Farmers' expenditures increased even faster with the increase in the value of their farms. Capital expenditures for construction, machinery and equipment, and their upkeep, climbed from $71.5 million in 1935 to $649 million in 1958.

Farmers' have other staggering expenses, such as purchases of fertilizers and pesticides. Sales of fertilizers, ers in Canada rose from 212,479 tons in 1935 to 908,214 tons in 1959. Sales of pesticides rose from $5.4 million in 1947 to a whopping $19 million in 1959.

The agricultural labour force has declined steadily in the past 10 years. In 1939 it stood at 1,379,000, but by 1959 it had dropped to 724,000. As a percentage of the total Canadian civilian labour force it has declined from 36.4 per cent in 1933 to only 12.4 per cent in 1959.

Canadian farmers are feeding more people. In 1940 one farm worker "supported" about 10 people, but in 1959 he "supported" as many as 27, an achievement, say the authors, which clearly reflects the rapid progress of our agriculture."

In 1959 alone, Canadian farmers paid $142,569,000 in taxes and another $184,364,000 in wages. They spent $348,561,000 for feed and seed purchased through market channels, $19,428,000 for electric power and $128,923,000 for miscellaneous items including veterinary fees, binder and baling twine, irrigation charges, fence repairs, salt, and so forth.

"The chief characteristic of what many people call the agricultural revolution of the post-war era," conclude the authors, "is the ability of an ever-decreasing number of farms to produce an ever-increasing number of products of higher quality to feed the people of Canada and of other countries."

Cooking Comments

Did you know that a 4-ounce serving of pork liver contains: as much Vitamin A as 2½ carrots; as much iron as 1 pound of raisins; as many B vitamins as a loaf of whole wheat or enriched bread? It's a fact — backed by nutrition experts at Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Do you have trouble getting gelatin salads out of molds? Try this hint. Brush the mold lightly with salad oil before putting the salad to set. When the salad is firm, it will slip out easily with only a gentle shake.

To separate leaves from a head of lettuce, try the way recommended by the Food and Nutrition Department, Macdonald Institute, Guelph. First, cut out the center core with a paring knife. Into this depression run a stream of cold running water from the tap. The leaves will come off very easily. Remove the moisture from the separated leaves by shaking them in a clean tea towel before using.

A man took his Great Dane to a vet. "Doctor, my dog does nothing but chase small sports cars."

"Well, that's only natural. Most dogs chase cars," the vet replied.

"I know. But mine catches them and buries them in the backyard."

Soil Judging and Land Use Competition Winners Announced

On Wednesday, July 19th, the Hastings County Soil Judging and Land Use Competition was held at the Ketcheson Brother's Farm, Wallbridge. The competition was arranged by Gibson Patterson, Assistant Agricultural Representative for Hastings and Mr. Harvey Wright, Regional Specialist.

The competition commenced at 9 a.m. with the registration of 30 contestants in the Wallbridge Orange Hall. The group was then taken on a tour of the area where they received instructions as to what to look for when comparing soils. The top five contestants in the Junior Section were as follows: 1st, Allan Thompson, Moira; 2nd, Marie Foley, Madoc R.R. 1; 3rd, Carl Brooks, Frankford R.R. 1; 4th, Carol Hagerman, Harold R.R. 1; 5th, David Foley, Madoc R.R. 1.

Three-Year Licences Are Predicted

Ontario Transport Minister Rountree predicted Ontario drivers will soon have their licences for three years at a time.

The three-year system would eliminate the present yearly term, but would require drivers to take tests at the end of each period, Mr. Rountree said.

"Before my term of office is complete, I hope to be able to announce the establishment of such a programme," he said at the opening of a new driver examination centre at Cornwall.

Mr. Rountree urged municipal officials throughout the province to set up vehicle inspection depots to check for mechanical troubles.

More than 10,000 farm animals will be on display in the Coliseum at the 83rd Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, August 18th to September 4th.
